THE APURVA KEMPINSKI BALI

AN ENTHRALLING LEGACY

Scattered between the Indian and Pacific Oceans like a string of precious stones, the 17,500 islands of Indonesia are home to a kaleidoscope of people and cultures whose history stretches back for thousands of years. The influence of successive reigning empires has left an indelible mark on the traditions, culture and psyche of the archipelago and its population: more than 300 ethnic groups that speak 750 languages and dialects, with myriad religions and beliefs that help make Indonesia one of the most diverse and colourful countries on the planet.

These diversified qualities are reflected in the official motto of Indonesia: ‘Bhinneka Tunggal Ika’, or ‘Unity in Diversity’; a phrase that can be traced back to the era of Majapahit, a powerful empire, formed and nurtured by the mighty King Hayam Wuruk and his trusted Prime Minister, Gajah Mada.

Stretching from Sumatra to Papua New Guinea, Majapahit was the largest kingdom ever to rule over Indonesia, from the 13th to the 16th centuries; an era marked by great advances in the world of arts, design and architecture, and the establishment of much of the cultural legacy for which Indonesia is known today. Paying homage to the Indonesian motto and the beauty of Majapahit’s legacy, every aspect of The Apurva Kempinski Bali is a true embodiment of Indonesian elegance.

— NATURAL CONCEPT —

The Apurva Kempinski Bali cascades down the hillside like one of Bali's iconic rice paddies, emerging from the clifftops and gradually making its way down to the Indian Ocean. Award-winning architect Budiman Hendropurnomo of UK-based Denton Corker Marshall drew inspiration from the rice terraces and their centuries-old 'subak' irrigation system to create the concept for the property. Modern Balinese architecture pays homage to the island's natural landscapes and manmade temples, in a symphony of natural-clad stone buildings, bougainvillea covered terraces and a network of waterways and shimmering pools. Tumbling waterfalls emerge from the lush landscape, flanking the resort's spectacular Grand Staircase. The 250-step walkway, inspired by Bali's sacred Pura Besakih water temple, runs through the centre of the resort, and provides a stage for nightly rituals.

— DESIGN AND HERITAGE —

Interior designer Rudy Dodo of Trivium Design Group has imagined opulent interior spaces created by Indonesia's finest craftsmen and artisans, which pay tribute to the country's rich design heritage, while adding modern touches that anchor the resort in the present day. At the crown of the resort, the pendopo-style lobby is a wide-open and welcoming space with a soaring tiered roof that draws the eye up to the cosmos. Flourishes like the intricate Javanese hand-carved gebyok partitions are symbolic of Indonesia's prosperous Majapahit kingdom, when the kingdom was a hub of artistic creativity. In the guestrooms, rich, exotic woods, local fabrics and typical Indonesian motifs create an understated and sophisticated atmosphere that's both luxurious and homely, while the views of the ocean and surrounding landscape tell their own story through wide panoramic windows.

ALLURING ACCOMMODATION

THE ACCOMMODATION IS A COLLECTION OF 475 LUXURIOUS GUESTROOMS, SPECIALITY SUITES AND EXCLUSIVE VILLAS. EACH ACCOMMODATION PROVIDES SPACIOUS LIVING WITH AN ARRAY OF EXCLUSIVE AMENITIES AND BESPOKE SERVICES, OVERLOOKING EITHER THE MAGNIFICENT INDIAN OCEAN OR THE TRANQUIL NATURE.

The accommodation is designed to provide luxury and comfort, inspired by Indonesia's tropical characteristics and blended with modern influences.

A TRANQUIL SANCTUARY

Overlooking the ocean, Apurva Spa is a relaxing haven, where body and beauty treatments are inspired by time-honoured Javanese and Balinese wisdom. The philosophy is based on the ancient proverb 'rupasampat wahyabiantara': true beauty is achieved when outer beauty is in harmony with inner beauty.

Traditional ointments such as lulur, a herb and spice body scrub, will help achieve outer beauty, while activities such as sunrise yoga and meditation will pave the path to inner harmony and balance. Treatments are tailor-made for each guest based on the four stages of life: teenage, adult, married and post-adult, with different varieties of oil and lulur selected depending on specific individual needs.
